Products and services

Software development: Logic develops made-to-measure software solutions for the web, which can be used on the company intranet or the internet. Our catalogue also contains the following products: LEM, Cost centres, Medical Studio, etc.

Strategic advice/Systems assistance: Logic identifies the best technological development strategy, and then we provide all the necessary services.

- Connecting mixed systems over a wide geographical area
- implementing standard network services (file server, authentication server, database server), and then customising them.
- Back-up solutions
- Desktop and current server assistance
- Putting systems on the net and setting them up
- Implementing protection systems

In almost fifteen years' work, we have completed projects which have allowed administrative and business improvements in companies working in wide-ranging market sectors: service companies, professional studios, local government departments, sector associations, and professional and cultural associations.
