Neemia S.r.l.

We are the date point for utter selfhood: we are NEEMIA, and we want to transmit to our customers what we think is the starting point for a planned pathway towards optimising one's own success.

The latest technology is a powerful tool in reaching the best results, for providing optimal customer care. NEEMIA seeks to accompany small and medium companies and local government agencies along this wonderful and fascinating path towards efficiency in company processes, so that selfhood can immediately be identified as unique and inimitable.

NEEMIA provides IT-related services, especially as regards the use of electronic processing devices and accounting figures. We provide advice and support to companies and local government. We use the latest technology, software, hardware, and IT networks, to give a modern look to knowledge management. After an initial business bash and a bit of customer auditing, full analysis begins and the best solution for certain parameters that only the customer knows can be passed on. We then try to reach a special deal so that we learn to trust one another, with a view to reaching out towards the best of all possible results.

We also deal with companies from outside Italy.
