Frama serramenti PVC e vetri

Frama is a family company which has specialised in the manufacture of PVC doors and windows since 1972.

We can help you choose all your parts and accessories, and find the latest and best solution to your needs. This passion is proof that we care about providing you with as wide a range as possible of versatile products.

Since we live in such a cold part of Italy, the products and services we offer must be high-performance, as well as being safe and good-looking, and beating the requirements of the most demanding architects.

Our enthusiasm and the ever-present changes in such a difficult market mean that we have always had to invest in our factory, but this means we now have a semi-automatic premises which brings down costs without jeopardising our skill level.

As proof of our commitment to both running the company properly and taking care of our staff, Frama recently received ISO-9001 certification.
